Overall Learning Objectives (please complete)	To learn about new and more effective paradigms for advocacy, recovery, and anti-stigma that aim to expand collaboration among various activities and partnership with other stakeholders
Overall Abstract (max 500 words)	Fortunately, the importance of mental health, advocacy, recovery, and anti-stigma has been gradually better recognized in the world. Unfortunately, there remain many issues to be improved. It is vital that mental health movements and organizations get together, exchange experiences and expertise, and support each other. It is also crucial that better strategies are established to enhance partnership with other stakeholders in society. The World Federation of Mental Health (WFMH) aims to take leadership for this advancement. In this round table, President, President-elect, and Vice President for Program Development discuss how the WFMH aims to achieve these goals.
